Party Congress September 2 May Hold Key To Debate Over Free City

DANZIG, July 21—The Polish government today lodged three protests with the Danzig senate over a series of anti-Polish incidents culminating in the shooting yesterday of a Polish soldier by a Danzig customs officer.

BERLIN, July 21—In a move without precedent in the recent troubled history of Europe, Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler let it be known today that he looks for a peaceful solution of the Danzig problem, with Great Britain compelling Poland to back down and hand the free city over to the Reich.

Through an official spokesman, the Fuehrer announced that Germany's political barometer is "100 percent against war," and his own personal viewpoint was set forth in these words:

"All indications point to peace."

The spokesman left no doubt as to Hitler's unrelenting determination to extend his domain into the free city at the mouth of the Vistula river, but he insisted that as time passes both Britain and Poland would be compelled by force of circumstances to abandon their present resolute attitude and hand over Danzig "without a shot being fired."

No Conferences Planned

Germany is not prepared to negotiate with Poland on the Danzig issue, the spokesman said. The Reich stands firm on Hitler's declaration before the Reichstag on April 28 that "Danzig is German and must return to Germany."

A peaceful solution is still considered possible," the spokesman said, "but this can be achieved only if Poland backs down from its present stand."

It is assumed in Nazi Germany, the spokesman said, that England will again turn the scales in favor of the Reich before any showdown occurs, exerting a modifying influence on Poland.

"This assumption," he said, "strengthens confidence that Germany will obtain Danzig without firing a shot, just as it got the Sudetenland, Bohemia and Moravia."

The spokesman emphasized that Germany itself will make no immediate move calculated to endanger peace. The Reich remains consecrated to the slogan adopted for this year's Nazi party congress

Cleveland Preacher Relates Story Of Surprise Attack Near Jerusalem

JERUSALEM, July 21 — A young American missionary, the Rev. Gerould R. Goldner, of Cleveland, O., was held today in a hidden cave in the Moab hills by Arab kidnapers awaiting payment of $5,000 ransom.

The 29-year-old missionary graduate of Yale divinity school and pastor of a Mogadore, O., church, was kidnaped with his father, the Rev. Jacob Goldner, 67, as they jogged along the dusty road from Jerusalem to Jericho enroute to Wadi Naar on donkeyback.

Armed Bedouins swooped down upon the Americans, seized them and dragged them struggling to the cave where one of the assailants in broken English told the older Goldner to go back to Jerusalem and raise the ransom.

The $5,000, the tribesmen insisted, must be paid in small silver coins. Apparently having heard of kidnapers being traced by serial numbers on ransom bills, the Arabs sought to avoid detection.

The original ransom demanded was $10,000, but was later reduced to $5,000. An emissary sent to Jerusalem by the brigands carried a note to the elder Goldner which read:

"I am all right. Hope to hear from you, dad."

Life Menaced

The Arabs warned the father he must return to the cave alone and that any alarm given the police might cost the life of his son.

A wife and child await news of the fate of the young missionary in Cleveland.

Friendly Arabs, bearing gifts of rich money, grains and fattened fowl with which to placate the kidnapers, sought to contact their fellow tribesmen to obtain the young missionary's release.

Efforts to obtain release of the prisoner also were being made by Y. M. C. A. Secretary W. Miller and American Consul George Wadsworth.

The dramatic story of the kidnaping was told by the father. He disclosed that a fellow missionary, the Rev. Clifford Moore, barely avoided being made prisoner by the Arabs when he canceled plans to accompany the Goldners at the last moment because of illness.

Hatch Bill Tossed Back Into Senate

House Passes Measure To Bar Federal Employees From Election Work

WASHINGTON, July 21—With friends of President Roosevelt charging that the legislation is aimed at the third term drive, the controversial Hatch bill, barring federal employees from political activity, was thrust back in the lap of the senate today following a hectic night session that ended with the house passing the measure 243 to 133.

The immediate problem before the senate managers of the bill was whether to accept drastic house amendments to the measure and send it to the White House, or to seek a conference with the house for a compromise of differences.

The author of the bill, Senator Hatch (D) New Mexico, studied the changes, most of which he thought would be acceptable, in an effort to reach a decision during the day. The senate passed the bill in different form in May.

The measure, which has provoked one of the most bitter political battles in congressional history,

1. Forbid all government officials and employees, except the president, cabinet officers and policy-making officials whose appointments are subject to Senate confirmation.

SOCIALITE CITED IN ACTIONS FOR INJURING YOUTHS

PUTNAM, Conn., July 21—Audrey Gray, pretty 21-year-old Long Island socialite, was free in $1,500 bond today while the boys allegedly struck by her automobile remained in a serious condition at Day-Kimball hospital.

Shortly before Miss Gray, a niece of the dowager Duchess of Marlborough of London, left by plane for home with her mother she was served with papers in two damage suits for $25,000 each.

The suits were instituted by the father of Wilfred Martineau, Jr., 14, and his brother, Gerard, 10. Wilfred underwent an operation for amputation of an arm while Gerard was reported suffering from a fractured skull.

Miss Gray was arrested in Southbridge, Mass., 18 miles from where her car allegedly hit the boys while they were riding on a bicycle. She is charged withreckless driving and evading responsibility.

New Orleans Seeks Dr. Smith's 'Adviser'

Louisiana U.'s Ex-Presy Says He Was Told That Only Civil Action Could Be Brought

NEW ORLEANS, July 21—Identity of the person who "advised" the flight of Dr. James Monroe Smith, resigned president of Louisiana State university, remained cloaked in mystery today, as rumor had it that the federal grand jury was contemplating additional indictments.

The question of who advised Dr. Smith came to the forefront when the noted educator, through his attorneys, filed a petition in federal court seeking his release from custody on the ground that he has been subjected to "cruel and unusual" treatment.

In his petition Dr. Smith, who now faces 24 indictments in Baton Rouge parish, 11 charges in New Orleans and one federal mail fraud charge, declared he was "advised" to leave the state of Louisiana and was given to understand and was of the honest belief that there was no foundation for the institution of any criminal proceedings against him, but on the contrary, was informed that the only action which might be taken against him was a civil action."

Dr. Smith resigned from L. S. U. on June 25, and then followed a series of charges that he had used forged and unauthorized university bonds in an attempt to make himself master of the world's wheat markets.

Former Gov. Richard T. Leche, who personally received the resignation of Dr. Smith, flatly repudiated the allegations in the petition as "nonsense and untrue" and "absurd on the face of it."

Another Charge Hinted

Although a corps of federal agents was conducting its multiple investigations in utmost secrecy, reports persisted that the grand jury would return at least one new indictment today.

Asked directly on this, O. John Rogge, assistant United States attorney general, said:

"The federal government is only interested in making a fair and unprejudiced investigation. And when we find instances of law violations we will ask for indictments. But when that will be I cannot say."

So far the federal grand jury has made only one report, a single indictment charging five persons high in administration circles with aiding and abetting the strike.

The P.W.O.C. already has authorized a strike vote against Armour to include the company's 29 plants throughout the country, such a vote to be taken in the event the company persists in its refusal to bargain with the union.

The A.F.L. on other hand, has announced it might order its retail butcher members to stop the sale of Armour-produced meat if the company deals with the P.W.O.C.

All these matters were discussed yesterday at conferences at Chicago city council labor committee.

MEAT INDUSTRY TIEUP FEARED

C. I. O. And A. F. L. Threaten Armour Drive; Majority Membership Argued

CHICAGO, July 21—Both the C.I.O. and A.F.L. threatened strikes against the huge Armour and Company packing firm today as a nationwide tieup of the $2,000,000,000-a-year meat industry became increasingly possible.

The trouble centered around conflicting claims of strength made by the C.I.O. Packinghouse Workers' Organizing Committee and the A.F.L.'s Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butchers Workers' union in Armour's giant Chicago plant. Each union claims a majority membership of employees in the plant.

(Background note: Crux of the controversy was a National Labor Relations board order recognizing the N.L.R.B. order, declaring the C.I.O. should appeal to the board and ask it to enforce the order. Such action, the company believes, would open the way for a court test to decide the matter.)

Harry G. Ellerd, Armour personnel director, explained that his company refuses to recognize the P.W.O.C. as exclusive bargaining agency for the Chicago plant because it feels an election last October did not truly represent the desires of a majority of employees.

A. F. OF L. TO BID FOR CONTROL OF MOTOR WORKERS

DETROIT, July 21—The American Federation of Labor will send between 40 and 50 veteran organizers into Michigan within the next ten days to seriously open its bid for dominance in the automobile industry, it was reported today.

The organizers will work directly under A. F. of L. Regional Director Joseph Cummings in cooperation with—but not under the direct control of—Homer Martin, head of the A. F. of L. auto workers union.

It was reported 25 of the organizers will be centered in Detroit while the remainder will work in Flint, Pontiac, Saginaw and other automotive centers.

George Googe, director of A. F. of L. activities in the South, has returned to Detroit and is aiding Martin in an effort to gain full support of other A. F. of L. unions in Michigan, some of which have been more friendly to the C. I. O. auto workers union than to Martin's organization.

Several of the slugs struck his face and he slumped over dead. Campo, who escaped injury, was arrested as a material witness.

According to police records, Piccola was sitting behind the wheel of his small truck with Frank Campo, another Philadelphian, when another car drew alongside. Without warning, the occupant or occupants opened fire and Piccola was struck by several bullets from an automatic pump gun.

Mitchell was killed when his car skidded going into a turn and was hit from behind by the car of Lyle Dickie. The tiny cars were traveling at a speed of about 50 miles an hour on the 63 foot wide track.

Police and sheriff's deputies Friday were investigating an alleged "confession" made by Lonnie Toles, 37, that he was present when Noble Crawford, 39, of Hocking county, was fatally stabbed, but that another Negro had wielded Crawford's slip-blade penknife.

Toles, now in the Pickaway county jail awaiting transportation to the Ohio penitentiary to serve a one to 20 year term for manslaughter after a guilty plea, made his statement to Police Chief W. F. McCrady, Deputy Earl Weaver and others late Thursday afternoon when he was asked if he would like to say anything that would clear up the case. Toles had denied having anything to do with the murder of May 14.

As a result of Toles' "story," authorities are holding an unnamed Negro, an ex-convict from Virginia, for questioning. Toles said that the man whose name he did not know, had stabbed Crawford while he (Toles) held the Hocking countyman.

The arrest was made from the description Toles provided of the man. It was expected that the man involved and Toles would be put face to face sometime Friday.

FIFTY MILES OF RURAL ELECTRIC LINES PROVIDED

ENERGIZING WORK NEXT

400 Farm Homes To Be Using Electricity Early In September

Plans for approximately 50 miles of rural electrification lines in the northwestern part of Pickaway county have been erected and wire stringing is under way.

The Andrews Asphalt Paving Co., contractor for the project for the South Central Rural Electric Cooperative, reported Friday that about 15 miles of lines have been strung. It was believed the first sections of lines in the northwestern section would be ready for energizing in about two weeks.

Erection of poles in the southwestern part of the county will be started next week. All rural electrification work at present is in the western part of the county. The project now under construction includes approximately 150 miles of lines in this county. The lines, to serve about 400 farm homes, will be completed in the early part of September. There are 65 men employed on the line construction at present.

Darwin Kindler, of Lancaster, manager of the cooperative, urged contractors wiring homes to file applications for inspection as soon as possible. Two homes per mile of lines must be ready for electricity before the lines are energized.

"Blind a man with illusion, and anything can happen," is the way George Raft qualifies the role of "Joe Lourik," which he portrays in Universal's "I Stole a Million," due as the feature attraction at the Grand theatre, starting Sunday.

"Yes, I'm Joe Lourik," admitted Raft who is co-starred in the picture with Claire Trevor, "But I want everybody to study the character of the part as it applies to millions of men you and I know." "Lourik's life was a tangled skein of destiny, overflowing with ambitious desires—for life, love and independence," he added. "Then came illusions which blinded him with misunderstanding."

While two "fine and clean-cut" young men were eating soup and sandwiches at one of the local restaurants yesterday evening they got what we usually give the visitors here for the first time. When at home, they said, were in Crawfordford, Ind. Have been "out on the go" for the last several months and sure would be glad when they could get some of Mom's eats again. Exhibited a line of health pictures with attached speaker. They were kindly disposed and courteous same as the hundreds of other strangers we have contacted in the last couple of years. Had nothing for sale. And asked how they were maintained, said that life insurance companies set apart a fund to educate people how to live longer and that is our work and why we are here, they said.

Mrs. Roger Hedges with the children Don and Nancy; Mrs. Curtis Teegardin with Marilyn and Judy; Mrs. O. J. Ward with Jimmy; Mrs. David Dunnick and Mrs. Curtis Borror were here Wednesday at the home of their father, D. H. Ebert.

According to a document handed us by Constable John Baker, peace officers who have to do with the enforcement of the traffic laws, after August 3, must wear distinguishing uniforms, and directs the style of blouse, breeches, shirt and cap to be worn. All officers who do not have uniforms at the present time must purchase the regulation uniform. These orders are signed by Col. Lynn Black, superintendent of highway patrol. This may not apply to our local constable and village marshal and deputy.

The hundreds of chickens up in March territory are wondering why their care takers have been so liberal with the feed for the last couple of weeks, not knowing of course, that their necks will get the ax now soon and hundreds at the March church will be feasting on good fried chicken. Fred Hines' band, 40 pieces, strong will furnish the music. Begin serving at 5, they say, Thursday evening the 27th.

The boy plays the foster son of the jungle couple, swings through the air on vines with him in thrills of underwater swimming, is rescued from a rhinoceros, and figures in other thrills. Johnny leaped to fame on the New York stage as the boy in "On Borrowed Time."

"Tarzan Finds a Son!" deals with finding of a baby in a plane, wrecked in the jungle.

State C. of C. Forming New District Council

Business, professional and agricultural leaders from Pickaway county are invited to meet with those from eleven other central Ohio counties, Thursday, July 27 in Columbus to complete the organization of District Council No. 4 of the Ohio Chamber of Commerce.

The meeting has been arranged by the Ohio Chamber of Commerce in cooperation with the various local Chambers of Commerce. It is expected about 150 community leaders from the counties are expected at the meeting.

The temporary organization includes leaders in Franklin, Crawford, Delaware, Fairfield, Fayette, Knox, Licking, Madison, Marion, Morrow, Union and Pickaway counties.

Although Circleville and Pickaway county will be represented, it is not definite who will attend.

George B. Chandler, secretary of the Ohio chamber, will be in charge of the formation of the district organization. A chairman and an executive committee will be elected by the permanent organization.

The Columbus district is the sixth of nine districts in the state to be organized.

In explaining the functions of the district councils, Mr. Chandler said: "Further steps must be taken to safeguard public funds in Ohio's municipalities and local subdivisions. State spending is being vigilantly watched and is under control, but the danger lies in overlooking the local taxing districts which spend 80 percent of all tax monies collected in the state."

Dr. Arch D. Schultz, director of research of the Ohio chamber, will discuss duties and accomplishments of local taxation committees and George J. O'Brien, director of district councils will discuss the threats to the state treas-

'40 CROP PLAN TO HELP SMALL OHIO FARMERS

Recommendation Of Ross County Committee To Be Followed

TREE PLANTING CITED

1939 Provisions Helpful To Larger Property Operator

COLUMBUS, July 21—Ohio owners of small farms will gain further advantage in the 1940 agricultural adjustment plan, according to Elmer F. Kruse, state AAA chairman, who recently returned from a Washington meeting where the main features of next year's program were discussed by leading farmers from all states.

A minimum soil building allowance of $20 was established per farm. This will enable the small farm owner to improve the productivity of a part of his farm and to receive appreciable help for performing a service that is a benefit to the public as well as to himself.

This provision is in line with recommendations made by a Ross county committee which came to the conclusion that the 1939 farm program is more helpful to the large landowner than to the farmer with a small acreage. Ohio farmers next year also can earn up to $30 per farm for planting forest trees.

Encouragement of tree planting follows the recommendation of 1,800 Ohio land use committeemen who, after taking an inventory of Ohio agriculture, advised the retirement of large areas from crop use to the production of trees. The payment on forest plantings is in addition to the regular soil building allowance per farm.

Committeemen Responsible

Mr. Kruse also explains that local committeemen will have added responsibilities in administering the crop insurance and crop loan features of the farm program. Every community has a committee elected by neighbors to work out local details of crop allotments and soil building goals.

National allotments for wheat, corn, and tobacco will again be in effect. The wheat allotment already has been announced as 1,838,127 acres for Ohio and this amount will be apportioned to the counties and to individual farms within the counties.

The national crop allotments are decided on a basis of acreage previously produced and the amount of the crop being carried in storage, which ordinarily would come on the market during the year for which the allotment is made. The farm plan was devised to assure an adequate production of farm crops but to avoid over-production which depletes soil fertility and depresses prices.

The 1939 farm plan continues the practice of making two types of payments to farmers who cooperate. The first type is the conservation payments for improving the condition of the farm and the second is the price adjustment payment made for a change in crop rotations which might have the effect of reducing the cash income from one or more crops in the rotation.

DEAR SIR: The schedule of parades you have prepared for the annual Pumpkin Show is a splendid one. It should result in increased interest in this department of the celebration by folk from all parts of the county. The events for Circleville and Pickaway county school children, especially the Miss Pumpkin Show, healthiest boy and girl, band and float contests are certain to draw large entry lists. Interesting the county schools and rural folk in the parades was an angle overlooked in former years. It was wise to list a maximum amount for float materials. This removes the float competition from the commercial idea. It would be fine if you would select some parade chairmen from the rural districts. The Pumpkin Show is an agricultural event. The more farmers interested, the better the celebration.

THAT UNCLE SAM is about to stake out his share of the Antarctic continent is not a bit surprising. The queer thing is that the South Pole has been so long neglected. Not that it hasn't been visited and looked at, but it's entirely unsettled. The North Pole is different. That's nothing but open water. It's frozen over, to be sure. However, a drifting ice floe is nothing to plant a colony on. And, at that, the rim of land all around the edge of the Arctic sea is slightly populated—Alaska, Canada, the northern Scandinavias, and European and Asiatic Russia. It isn't a dense population, but it even has some cities, like Archangel and Harapanda, huddled as close to the Borean pole as there's any terra firma to build them on.

But the South Pole is in the middle of a regular continent—big, too. And they say it has valuable mineral resources.

That's why Germany is planning to send a bunch of colonists down to occupy some of it in the name of Herr Hitler. And it's to head off the Germans that led congress to appropriate $340,000 to dispatch an expedition thitherward, under Admiral Byrd, to pre-empt a claim in Uncle Sam's behalf. The only peculiar detail is that we've been so slow about it.

When a country wants to establish title to a vacant piece of territory, under international law (if that amounts to anything any longer) the rule is that it must occupy it and keep it occupied. So the scheme is for Admiral Byrd to land about 100 Americans to set up housekeeping in Antarctica in three little municipalities. They're to remain for a year, then to be relieved by another batch of 100 or more—it's the first bunch reports that it liked it.

Parenthetically, a year would be enough, I'd guess.

And so on ad infinitum. The Germans will be forestalled in this fashion. They may go to war about it later, but momentarily we have 'em off base; we've got $340,000 immediately available, and they haven't.

SCANDINAVIA'S PRIOR RIGHT Norway really has first claim on the South Pole by reason of Captain Amundsen's first arrival there.

The captain had been trying for years to get, not to the Austral, but to the Borean pole. Finally he made a last desperate effort. In the midst of it he learned that Admiral Peary had beaten him to it. "Heck!" exclaimed the captain, petulantly. "Then I'll discover the

As to the South Pole's mineral resources I don't know.

The Arctic regions have the musk ox. I know Dr. Cook of Arctic fame. I met him in Copenhagen in World War days. "War," said the "doc," "is due to peoples' strife for land. Now, there's lots of land in the Arctic regions. Why shouldn't they develop it?"

"But what," I asked, "would they do if they got there?"

"Well," answered the "doc," "they could raise musk oxen."

South Polar weather is pretty darned important.

We're in the habit of thinking that our weather all comes from the North Pole. North and South Polar weather mix at the Equator and the mixture is reflected in both directions. It raises hedges with tropical storms, and for all we know, with a lot of other terrestrial weather.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

M. F.: "How contagious is scabies? What care should be taken to keep other members of the family from getting it? How do you get rid of it?"

Answer: Scabies, or the itch, is caused by a small mite, acarus scabiei, which penetrates the superficial layers of the skin. It is the female that does this burrowing in order to lay her eggs. After she lays the eggs, she dies; the larvae hatch out in four to eight days. All this activity causes intense itching. The burrow is marked by scabs on the surface of the skin; hence, the name. The favorite spot of penetration is the skin on the webs between the fingers. It is quite contagious, the infection coming from linens (dirty hotel linens), underwear and from infected persons. Treatment should begin with a hot bath, using soap and a scrub brush to remove the scabs, so the medicine which kills the mite can penetrate.

A. M.: "What causes poor circulation in the large toes of the foot? What causes enlarged gall-bladder?"

What can be done to prevent hardening of the arteries in old age? Is there any kind of medicine to stretch the arteries so that the blood can circulate?"

Answer: Poor circulation in the toes in your case is evidently due to hardening of the arteries. Enlargement of the gall-bladder is probably due to infection. Unless it causes a great deal of pain, it is best left alone in a patient with hardened arteries. It will correct itself. There is no medicine that can be used for hardened arteries.

The only thing to do is to take it easy, quit worrying and adjust your life to the limited powers your arteries allow you. You can't make the arteries younger.

Today's Horoscope

In the main, the year just commencing will be fortunate for those whose birthday is today. Uncommon ways and novel methods will bring them gain. The child born on this date will be clever, critical, sensitive and courageous. While economical in small matters, he or she will be extravagant in a wider sense—fond of ornamentation, dress and display.

them, never meaning them, could it hurt a man so terribly to find out about it?"

Bob was remembering the night he had seen Sarah Anne in the alcove of the lodge, the misses in her hand. He was thinking of the curious shock he had felt. That sense of faith going out. So he said: "Yes, it could, for the moment, Corinne. But any sort of a man would come to his senses and realize it's none of his business. We all do silly things. Why expect perfection?"

"But doesn't love have a right to demand it?" She leaned forward again, her large eyes searching his.

"No right, my child, but it thinks it has. Love's not reasonable. You see—" He drew his brows together, thoughtfully, then smiled and his face lighted up. "It's this way, take it from Dorothy Dr. Dink's favorite nephew! A smart woman tries to keep a man from knowing she's had a foolish impulse or two. Some women get the breaks. They can get away with murder. Others get caught the first offense."

"Like me." Very quietly.

When he didn't answer, she went on: "And yet, I don't see how Bob Ransom could have known about those few letters I wrote. Sarah Anne got them out of the safe—I told her how and she didn't have any trouble—and she destroyed them without anyone catching on. But there's nothing—notting else that ... 'd make that silly nutmeg act like this."

Corinne was so interested in her own speculations she did not see the amazement that came into Robert Kennedy's eyes, or the deep relief that followed. When he spoke, he held his voice under control.

"You mean you wrote some letters and Sarah Anne rescued them for you?"

"Yes, you grasp things fast, my bright young man." Now Corinne glanced at him curiously.

Sarah Anne had not written the letters. What a colossal fool he had been! She had kept her faith with Corinne. Not by a word had she betrayed her sister. What a wife she would make! He must get to a telephone in a hurry and talk to her.

In his sudden sense of exultation, he spoke impulsively to Corinne. "See here, youngster, your Bob is at school not far from New York, and I'm going in that direction now. I'll give the lad a ring. We'll find out what's up. I bet you another steak that it's nothing."

There was rapture in the glance she gave him. "Robert, you are Santa Claus and St. Valentine and Bank Night and the spring hop all in-one. In other words, you are tops!"

Alone, Robert Kennedy hurried to a telephone. But he could not get Sarah Anne. She and Judith were not at any of the hotels in the town where Corinne said they

TO SPORTSMEN

FELLOWS: If you are wise you will start a campaign to obtain a game sanctuary in Pickaway county in connection with the recent grant given the conservation department by the federal government. State Conservation Commissioner Don Waters announced this week that $60,000 had been granted. This will be matched by the state with $15,000 derived from taxes on shotguns and shotgun shells. TO COUNCIL

MEMBERS: I hope you waste no time in passing regulations that will prohibit out-of-town firms from passing handbills in Circleville. Since council did not feel it could regulate local firms passing handbills, it can at least prevent the city being flooded with handbills sent in from other cities. Circleville folk hopes council reconsiders the possibility of establishing regulations on handbills of Circleville firms. Picking them up from yards and porches is becoming a disgusting task.

TO SERVICE DEPARTMENT

AUTHORITIES: The appeal of north-end residents for street improvement is one that should receive your attention immediately. This district, which is one of Circleville's newest and most attractive residential areas, is handicapped by bad highway conditions. Several times in the last two years improvements have been promised, and several times some work has been done on the streets that wind through the district, but permanent improvements have been few and entirely too insufficient. You have promised to give relief to the persons who travel in the northend as soon as a project on which you are now working is completed. Please carry out this promise and receive the thanks of many patient persons.

TO COUNCILMEN

MEMBERS: Many Circleville folk are wondering when you will find sufficient time to take up the subject of garbage collection. A suggestion was made months ago that council consider this problem before summer arrived. The city has been flooded with complaints in recent weeks about the problem. Since council has taken no steps to solve the problem it would be wise for health officials to give it some consideration. If residents are not fortunate enough to have someone collect their garbage, where are they supposed to take it?

CHAPTER FORTY-THREE
IF ROBERT KENNEDY hadn't happened to have three hours to wait over, as he went back East after that hasty marriage of Jack and Judith, he would not have called Corinne. He did so on the spur of the moment. She was Sarah Anne's sister. She might know about the wall of reserve that had shut him away from her sister.

She, that was good reasoning! She might know, but she wouldn't tell. And he, of course, never would ask. But something had gone wrong. Anyway, he had three hours to kill and if dormitory meals still followed the conventional menus, Corinne might enjoy some caviar and a steak and a banana split.

It was natural when he and Corinne were seated at a small, candle-lighted table, in the best dining room in the city hotel, that she mentioned the mistaken telephone identity.

"Bob and I are throwing bricks at each other again. It's a game we play. I thought maybe he wanted a truce and I wanted the terms of peace. This is a gorgeous melon. When I get rich, I'm never going to eat anything that's in season. Just special imports."

Corinne had lost five pounds. She knew it because her brown skirt had been too big and she had fastened it with safety pins, under the yellow angora sweater which she wore beneath her short brown jacket. Her eyes were more purple than blue in their weariness and her long, sooty lashes rested on her cheeks, as though she seldom looked up any more. When she did, the intensity of her gaze was a little frightening.

Though she talked a great deal, she reminded Bob of Sarah Anne, who had dark eyes and hair and her chin never lowered its angle by a half degree. But the same hurt was in her face, the same wretchedness and worry.

When he didn't answer, she went on: "And ye", I don't see how Bob Ransom could have known about those few letters I wrote. Sarah Anne got them out of the safe—I told her how and she didn't have any trouble—and she destroyed them without any catching on. But there's nothing—noting else that I'd make that silly nutmeg act like this."

Corinne was so interested in her own speculations she did not see the amazement that came into Robert Kennedy's eyes, or the deep relief that followed. When he spoke, he held his voice under control.

"You mean you wrote some letters and Sarah Anne rescued them for you?"

"Yes, you grasp things fast, my bright young man." Now Corinne glanced at him curiously.

WALTZING THROUGH SUMMER

JOAN BENNETT is really sitting out a dance in this evening gown of embroidered organdy, reminiscent of the 1860's, and a far cry from those non-wearable dresses stylists once labeled "Hollywood." Dozens of pretty models of this type are in the shops and will finish out many of the last waltzes of Summer. Waistlines are invariably molded. Skirts widely flared. Detailing may be involved, as in this befrilled and velvet-bowed gown, or almost non-existent, as in a white pique jacket and full, separate skirt. The point is that prices are often much less than you'd guess, giving no girl an excuse for staying at home in a housecoat when she might be enjoying moonlight and music.

$5,000 RANSOM DEMANDED FOR PASTOR'S LIFE

Ohio Minister, 29, Captured By Arabs, Remains Hidden In Moab Hill Cave

(Continued from Page One) Arab on the lonely road," Dr. Goldner said. "As we talked with him, ten others swooped down on us out of the shadows.

"We were taken to an abandoned cave. There one of the rebels, who spoke a little English, informed me I could return to Jerusalem but that I must return with the $5,000 ransom.

Taken To Jerusalem

"Two of the band escorted me to the outskirts of Jerusalem and then fled."

CLEVELAND, July 21—All possible aid in freeing Rev. Gerald R. Goldner, 29-year-old pastor of the Mogadore, O., Christian church, held by Arab kidnapers in Palestine, was promised today by the congregation of the church and that of the Euclid avenue Christian church, Cleveland.

The Euclid avenue church has been the pastorate of Rev. Goldner's father, Dr. Jacob H. Goldner, for 40 years. The younger Goldner has been at Mogadore a year.

A cablegram stating "plight known, funds available" was dispatched to Dr. Goldner by Rev. Howard Spangler, assistant pastor at the Euclid avenue church.

"We will co-operate in every way possible with the Euclid avenue Christian church on Rev. Mr. Goldner's behalf."

The elder Rev. Goldner was released by the kidnapers to negotiate his son's ransom. He dispatched a brief cable saying that "Goldner is safe," to the young pastor's wife, staying with her nine-month-old son at the home of a sister in suburban Lakewood.

CHARLES MOORE DIES IN AMANDA AT AGE OF 58

Charles Moore 58, died at his home in Amanda at 8:15 p.m. Thursday. He had been ill for three weeks. Complications caused death.

Mr. Moore is survived by his widow, Ida Bowman Moore; one daughter, Evelyn, at home; two granddaughters, Patricia Anna Mavis and Dolores Jane Mavis, of Circleville, and two sisters, Ella Moore, of Columbus, and Mrs. Margaret Fausnaugh, of Lancaster. He was a son of David and Elizabeth Moore.

Funeral services will be held Sunday at 2 p.m. in the Sixteenth Evangelical church, near Stoutsburg, with the Rev. Mr. Harter officiating. Burial will be in the Stoutsburg cemetery by H. E. Deffenbaugh & Son.

GOV. DICKINSON DISCOVERS THINGS DO GET AROUND

KEARNY, N. J., July 21—The score was 2 to 0 today against Howard B. Schirmer, and the old saw about the general foolishness of acting as your own lawyer was definitely unturned.

Governor Luren D. Dickinson, 80-year-old crusading dry, told just two people—"both newspapermen"—that he was referring to Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt when he criticised a "prominent woman" for advising girls to learn just how much liquor they could handle with safety.

And yet, he said:

"All over the country are headlines that I criticised Mrs. Roosevelt for her attitude toward drinking. I did not intend to criticize the wife of the President, and I meant no discourtesy."

"As a matter of fact, I did not mention her name in my radio talk. I merely repeated a statement she made to the effect that young girls should learn their drinking capacity and stick to it."

"Now the truth is that outside my own family I told only two persons that I was referring to Mrs. Roosevelt."

"Just two — both newspapermen."

Toles next court entry is dated March 31, 1926, when he was sent to the workhouse in Warren, O., to serve $100 and costs and 30 days for petit larceny. Toles was arrested for robbery in May, 1927, and sent to Lima as criminally insane. He escaped from the state hospital in September, 1928, and was re-arrested in Circleville April 8, 1929 for robbery. He remained until last February at which time he was released as "restored to reason."

Toles' one great fear is that he will be returned to the Lima institution. He told his attorney, C. A. Leist, that he would plead guilty to any charge rather than face re-commitment to Lima. Toles was party to an escape plot last New Year's Day, but instead of fleeing with other criminals he spread an alarm that started a search for the fugitives. Since that time several of the convicts have been captured and returned to the state hospital. Authorities believe that Toles fears he will be slain if he returns to the Lima institution.

After a quick perusal of the New Jersey divorce laws in a book in the public library, Schirmer decided to act as his own lawyer in contesting his wife's divorce action.

The disastrous result was (1) that Mrs. Lee Schirmer, of Elizabeth, the wife, won her divorce and (2) the court gave her $5 a week alimony in addition.

"Did you ever see me drunk?" he demanded, menacingly.

"Sure, many times," Isakson replied blandly.

So, the master in the case, Douglas Herr, quickly ended it by recommending the divorce.

Point gains were distributed throughout the list.

HO HUM! ROMANCE HINTED AGAIN FOR RUDY VALLEE

TOLEDO, O., July 21—The Federal Bureau of Investigation today was asked to investigate the kidnapping of Herbert W. Adams, 32-year-old Toledo automobile salesman.

Adams told officials he was forced by Charles McMullen, 39, who was armed, to drive from Toledo through Indiana and Illinois for two days. The salesman said he escaped when McMullen fell asleep while the automobile was parked near Joliet, Ill.

"We were taken to an abandoned cave. There one of the rebels, who spoke a little English, informed me I could return to Jerusalem but that I must return with the $5,000 ransom.

Taken To Jerusalem
Two of the band escort me to the outskirts of Jerusalem and then fled."

CLEVELAND, July 21—All possible aid in freeing Rev. Gerold Goldner, 29-year-old pastor of the Mogadore, O., Christian church, held by Arab kidnapers in Palestine, was promised today by the congregation of the church and that of the Euclid avenue Christian church, Cleveland.

The Euclid avenue church has been the pastorate of Rev. Goldner's father, Dr. Jacob H. Goldner, for 40 years. The younger Goldner has been at Mogadore a year.

A telegram stating "plight known, funds available" was dispatched to Dr. Goldner by Rev. Howard Spangler, assistant pastor at the Euclid avenue church.

"We will co-operate in every way possible with the Euclid avenue Christian church on Rev. Mr. Goldner's behalf."

The elder Rev. Goldner was released by the kidnapers to negotiate his son's ransom. He dispatched a brief cable saying that "Gerould is safe," to the young pastor's wife, staying with her nine-month-old son at the home of a sister in suburban Lakewood.

JERSEYITE'S ATTEMPT TO PLEAD OWN CASE COSTLY

KEARNY, N. J., July 21—The score was 2 to 0 today against Howard B. Schirmer, and the old saw about the general foolishness of acting as your own lawyer was practically unturned.

After a quick perusal of the New Jersey divorce laws in a book in the public library, Schirmer decided to act as his own lawyer in contesting his wife's divorce action.

"Did you ever see me drunk?" he demanded, menacingly.

"Sure, many times," Isakson replied blandly.

So, the master in the case, Douglas Herr, quickly ended it by recommending the divorce.

Commitment Delayed

Clerk of Courts L. Wilder, Thursday afternoon, completed preparation of commitment papers to permit Toles' transfer to the penitentiary, but the sheriff's office said that Toles would probably be kept here until the "third person" angle is cleared up.

Prosecutor George E. Gearhardt, who conducted the State's case with assistance of his father, Charles E. Gearhardt, Friday, disclosed Toles' record that shows his criminal career starting in 1917 when he was 15 years old. He was committed to the Boys' Industrial School in Lancaster as a delinquent child. How long he served there is not certain, his next court record showing commitment to the Athens State hospital on Oct. 7, 1925. He remained in Athens less than a month, escaping.

Toles' next court entry is dated March 31, 1926, when he was sent to the workhouse in Warren, O., to serve $100 and costs and 30 days for petit larceny. MARKET CLIMBS AGAIN, PICKING UP AT OPENING

NEW YORK, July 21—The stock market resumed its advance in a sharp runup of one to more than three points today, after absorbing profit-taking through the previous sessions.

Trading picked up quickly as the market moved ahead, and the highspeed ticker ran late for a time mid-way through the second hour. Several leaders showed thin markets on the upside, with large fractional spreads between sales. All sections participated from the opening bell.

Du Pont and Air Reduction each climbed more than three points in a strong chemical group.

An active steel group saw Bethlehem, U. S. Steel, Crucible and Youngstown Sheet & Tube each up much to around 18.

Loft continued its spectacular rise, spurring two points to another new peak of 18, after opening at 17 1-8 on a block of 6,000 shares.

Canada Dry Ginger Ale also was extremely active, as it climbed above 19 for a gain of almost two points.

Point gains were distributed throughout the list.

OLMSTEAD, Ill., July 21—Sheriff I. J. Hudson today was investigating the report of Jesse Rutherman, cashier of the Olmstead First National bank, that an attempt had been made to kidnap his nine-year-old son, Frederick.

Cady on a charge of being drunk and disorderly. The mayor suspended the fine and costs on condition Bush leave the city permanently. The mayor said Bush preferred to change his residence.

HAGUE REFUSES TO LET GIANTS TAKE ATHLETES

Crippled Terrymen To Lose Use Of Big Stadium If Club Is Wrecked

MINORS IN FIRST PLACE

Big Bill's Boys Thumped Sixth Straight Time, Pirates Winning

By Pat Robinson.

NEW YORK, July 21—It isn't often that a mayor of a minor league baseball town has a voice in the destiny of a major league pennant race, such as Frank Hague—czar-like boss of Jersey City—is exercising today in the National league.

Hague exercised his peculiarly unique privilege when he refused to let the crippled New York Giants recall some of their farm hands from the Jersey City club which they own, and whom they desperately need.

This state of affairs may seem strange to anyone unfamiliar either with Hague or the set-up. Actually, the situation is simple and easily understood. Here it is in a nutshell:

The Jersey City club, now leading the International league, plays in a magnificent stadium which cost more than a million dollars of the government's money to build.

Hague lets the Giants have the stadium for $1,000 a year—an absurdly low rental. The Jersey City club has drawn more than 300,000 attendance and is making more money than the parent club.

Hague Hurls Threat

Hague has informed the Giants' owners that if they withdraw even one man they are through in his bailiwick. Hence, the Giants are not calling two or three who might save them from the plunge toward the National league basement and the unwelcome company of the Phillies.

How desperately the injury-riddled Giants need replacements was shown yesterday when they dropped their sixth straight game, the Pirates taking them, 8-4. Chuck Klein ran his hitting streak to 19 straight games in this one and is currently batting .319. And, the tail-end Phils, who could use almost anybody strong enough to tote a bat to the plate, had nerve enough to let Klein get away from them.

In the only other game in the National, the Bees again edged out the Cubs, 2-1, behind Bill Posedel's classy 6-hit pitching. And Bill is a felo of the Dodgers let loose.

And in the other circuit, the Red Sox, going from bad to worse, dropped their second-straight shutout and their fourth consecutive game to the battling White Sox, 4-0.

The Indians had one big early inning in which they made enough runs to give the veteran Mel Harder a 3-2 decision over the Athletics and the Senators outscored the Tigers, 8-2 despite homers by Avril, Cullenbine and Greenberg.

And, oh yes, with Red Ruffing yielding only four hits, those terrible Yanks won their eighth straight by trimming the Browns, 2-1.

COOPER OILS IN VICTORY OVER MT. STERLING CREW

Cooper Oils, of the Circleville city league, won a 7-4 softball contest Thursday evening from the Pure Oils of Mt. Sterling. The game was played under the lights on the Mt. Sterling field.

Dean pitched for the Coopers and was aided materially by a home run smash by Harold Glick with a mate on base.

The Coopers took an early lead and maintained it throughout. Lightfoot was the Mt. Sterling pitcher.

GROVER WITH DAVIDS

NEW YORK, July 21—Grover Cleveland Alexander, the one-time Phillies pitching star lately performing in a New York sideshow, today returned to the management of the House of David baseball club which he also managed from 1931 to 1935. Alexander will pilot the bearded players for the remainder of the season.

BIG JOHN RUNS AT ARLINGTON

Woodward's Horse Holds Top Billing; Chaledon, Technician Enter

CHICAGO, July 21—Johnstown, William Woodward's three-year-old champion, loomed as a top-heavy favorite today for the running of the $50,000 Arlington Park classic stakes tomorrow.

Predictions were for a lightning fast track and this, coupled with the big colt's sparkling workouts during the week, led many of the rail birds to express the opinion, the mile and a quarter stakes to all intents and purposes will be a one-horse race—with Johnstown that one horse.

Yesterday the Woodward horse ran a practice half-mile in :45.115, one second faster than the official world record.

Some fans nevertheless continued to string along with W. L. Brann's Chaledon, winner over Johnstown in the Preakness stud, and with the Woolford farm's Technician and Unering. These horses all were said to be in top shape for tomorrow's race, as were the Earle Sande-trained Heather Broom, and Sun Lover.

Of the forecast field of six, however, it was Johnstown who rapidly was becoming the general choice, with Chaledon considered a good second and Technician or Unering third.

REDS MEET BROOKLYN; RIGGS TO BE PITCHER?

NEW YORK, July 21—The Cincinnati Reds were to engage the Brooklyn Dodgers in a double-header today as rumors traveled in baseball circles that former third-baseman Lew Riggs would soon blossom forth as a pitcher.

The rumor, not verified, was that Red Coach Jimmy Wilson, former Philadelphia Phillie manager, was attempting to make a hurler out of Riggs. It was Wilson who converted Bucky Walters into a moundsman while manager of the Phils.

QUEEN VICTORIA RUNS TO VICTORY IN MAINE

OLD ORCHARD BEACH, Me., July 21—Queen Victoria, a bay filly owned by William H. Strang, of Brooklyn, emerged today as the heroine of yesterday's Grand Circuit racing program which was cut short because of rain.

Queen Victoria finished second to Samson in the first heat but won the second, splitting the $400 purse. She was given the victory because of her better position.

Spud Hanover, a colt from the Arden homestead stable, Goshen, N. Y., won the 2:20 trot in two straight heats.

LOUISVILLE STAR LIMITS KASEYS TO SIX BLOWS

KANSAS CITY, July 21—The two-team race in the American Association was somewhat tighter today as Louisville marked down a 4 to 1 victory over the league-leading Kansas City Blues.

Minneapolis, in second place, moved up a full game due to a 6 to 2 win over Toledo. Three games now separate the two leaders.

Red Olson hurled for Louisville and allowed the Blues only six safeties while his teammates pounded two Kansas City pitchers for 10 hits.

In other games, Indianapolis, with Don French on the mound, shut out Milwaukee, 4 to 0. The Brewers could get to French for only three hits.

Max Lanier held St. Paul to seven hits as Columbus marked up a 4 to 2 win over the Saints. The Red Birds got 11 safeties off the deliveries of Art Herring.

$100,000 ROOKIE TAGS OUT, CLAIM LEAGUE MOGLS

By Pat Robinson

NEW YORK, July 21—Hereafter minor league club owners are likely to find a falling market for their prize rookies. Those halcyon days when minor league club could command anywhere from $25,000 to $100,000 or more for an untried fledgling are gone forever.

The majors are going to raise their own price checks. Some rookies have been worth the high prices paid for them all too often the major league club owners particularly their own after his victories in 1936, '37 and '38.

Big Bill's Boys Thumped Sixth Straight Time, Pirates Winning

By Pat Robinson
NEW YORK, July 21—It isn't often that a mayor of a minor league baseball town has a voice in the destiny of a major league pennant race, such as Frank Hague—czar-like boss of Jersey City—is exercising today in the National league.

Hague exercised his peculiarly unique privilege when he refused to let the crippled New York Giants recall some of their farm hands from the Jersey City club which they own, and whom they especially need.

This state of affairs may seem strange to anyone unfamiliar either with Hague or the set-up. Actually, the situation is simple and easily understood. Here it is in a nutshell:

The Jersey City club, now leading the International league, plays in a magnificent stadium which cost more than a million dollars of the government's money to build.

Hague lets the Giants have the stadium for $1,000 a year—an absurdly low rental. The Jersey City club has drawn more than 300,000 attendance and is making more money than the parent club.

Hague Hurls Threat

Hague has informed the Giants' owners that if they withdraw even one man they are through in his bailiwick. Hence, the Giants are not recalling two or three who might save them from the plunge toward the National league basement and the unwelcome company of the Phillies.

How desperately the injury-ridden Giants need replacements was shown yesterday when they dropped their sixth straight game, the Pirates taking them, 8-4. Chuck Klein ran his hitting streak to 19 straight games in this one and is currently batting .319. And, the tail-end Phils, who could use almost anybody strong enough to tote a bat to the plate, had nerve enough to let Klein get away from them.

In the only other game in the National, the Bees again edged out the Cubs, 2-1, behind Bill Posedel's classy 6-hit pitching. And Bill is a fellow the Dodgers let loose.

And in the other circuit, the Red Sox, going from bad to worse, dropped their second-straight shutout and their fourth consecutive game to the bating White Sox, 4-0.

The Indians had one big early inning in which they made enough runs to give the veteran Mel Harder a 3-2 decision over the Athletics and the Senators outscored the Tigers, 8-7 despite homers by Avril, Cullenbine and Greenberg.

And, oh yes, with Red Ruffing yielding only four hits, those stern Yanks won their eighth straight by trimming the Browns, 2-1.

COOPER OILS IN VICTORY OVER MT. STERLING CREW

Cooper Oils, of the Circleville city league, won a 7-4 softball contest Thursday evening from the Pure Oils of Mt. Sterling. The game was played under the lights on the Mt. Sterling field.

Dean pitched for the Coopers and was aided materially by a home run smash by Harold Glick with a mate on base.

The Coopers took an early lead and maintained it throughout. Lightfoot was the Mt. Sterling pitcher.

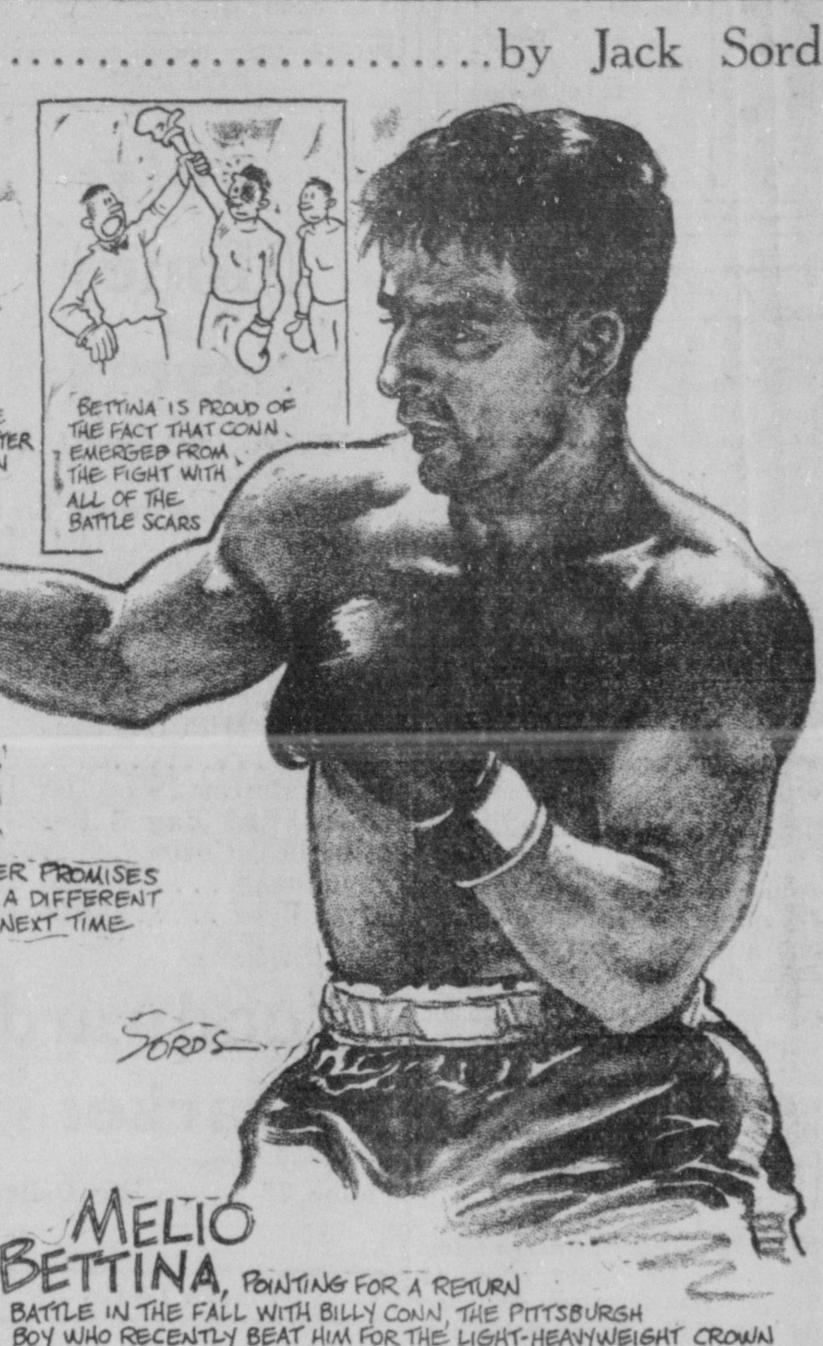

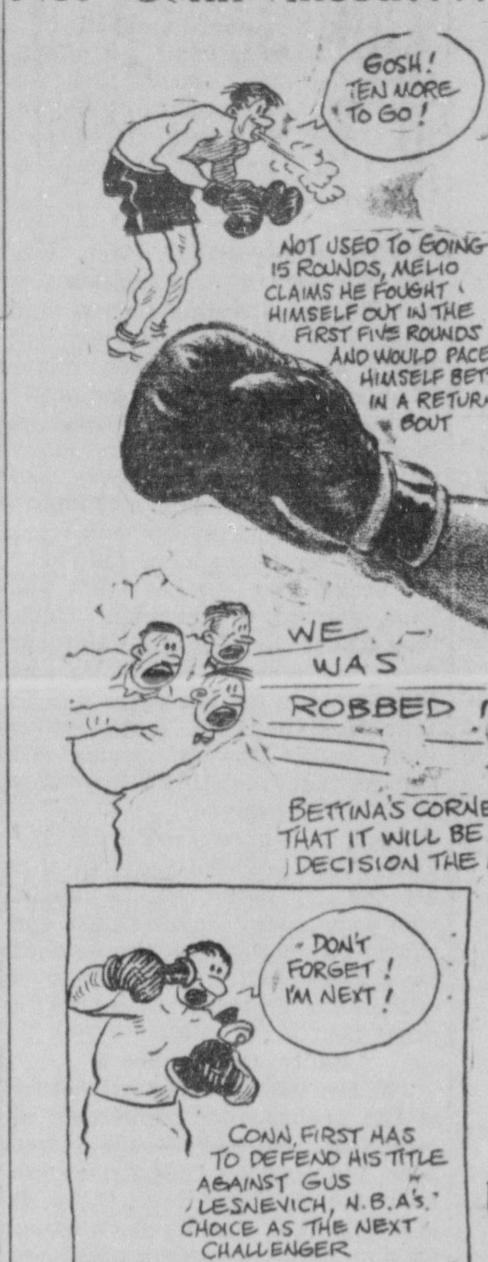

GROVER WITH DAVIDS

NEW YORK, July 21—Grover Cleveland Alexander, the one-time Phillips pitching star lately performing in a New York sideshow, today returned to the management of the House of David baseball club which he also managed from 1931 to 1935. Alexander will pilot the bearded players for the remainder of the season.

GULDAHL SEEKS WESTERN TITLE

Sharpshooter After Honors Fourth Consecutive Year

CHICAGO, July 21—A record entry of 349 amateurs and professionals was on the firing line today as play started in the 40th annual Western Open golf championship. All guns were trained on big Ralph Guldahl, who has come to consider the Western particularly his own after his victories in 1936, '37 and '38.

Standing between the hefty Texan and his fourth straight title were some of the most formidable club swingers of American golfdom, including National Open Champ Byron Nelson, P. G. A. champion Henry Picard, "Slinging Sam" Snead, Dick Metz, Tommy Armour, Horton Smith, Johnny Revolta, George Shute, Jimmy Hines, Vic Ghezzi, Jimmy Thomson, Ray Mangrum, Dutch Harrison and a host of top flight amateurs.

The tourney will be a three day affair. Eighteen holes were on today's schedule, with another 18 on tap for tomorrow and 36 holes on Sunday.

Play will be over No. 1 and No. 3 courses of the Medinah Country Club today and tomorrow, with Sunday's 36 holes being limited to the No. 3 course. The low 50 pros and ties for the first 36 holes and the low 22 amateurs and ties for the first 36 will be the qualifiers for Sunday's 36-hole test.

There was some doubt whether veteran Walter Hagen would play. The "Haig" complained of lumbago after a practice round yesterday and said he might withdraw. The only announced withdrawals, however, were those of Gene Sarazen and Ed Dudley.

Of course Joe DiMaggio was virtually a gift at $25,000 but scouts think back to Willie Kamm and his $100,000 price tag rather than to DiMaggio.

The Athletics paid Baltimore $100,000 for Lefty Grove—the payments spread over 10 years—and

$100,000 ROOKIE TAGS OUT, CLAIM LEAGUE MOGLS

By Pat Robinson
NEW YORK, July 21—Hereafter minor league club owners are likely to find a falling market for their prize rookies. Those halcyon days when minor league club could command anywhere from $25,000 to $100,000 or more for an undrafted fledgling are gone forever.

The majors are going to raise their own prize chicks. Some rockies have been worth the high prices paid for them but all too often the major league club owners have been left holding the bag.

There was a general lifting of eyebrows when Detroit paid a reported $50,000 for Fred Hutchinson from the coast league. Many experts, including the Yankee scouts, said at the time that he wasn't worth a fraction of that sum and it is worth noting that the young man is now toiling for Toledo in the American Association.

A few years ago there would have been a mad rush to land the youngest of the DiMaggio brothers now playing the outfield for San Francisco but today the major league owners are showing commendable restraint in bidding for the young man's services.

Domini DiMaggio may be as good or better than brothers Vince and Joe, as some extravagant coast reports would have us believe, but the major league scouts are somewhat skeptical and in no hurry to bid for him.

Of course Joe DiMaggio was virtually a gift at $25,000 but scouts think back to Willie Kamm and his $100,000 price tag rather than to DiMaggio.

The Athletics paid Baltimore $100,000 for Lefty Grove—the payments spread over 10 years—and Grove undoubtedly was worth more than Connie Mack paid for him. In fact, at that price, he was one of the cheapest purchases the game ever knew.

But Grove was a rare exception and the high priced rockies who had made good in the majors could be counted on the fingers of one hand.

Of course, there have been some huge sums paid for players who had already proved their worth such as the $138,000 the Yanks paid the Red Sox for Babe Ruth. Babe would have been cheap even at twice that sum.

But the risk is too great for such large investments. The Cubs paid that out when they paid $187,000 for Dizzy Dean on top of a baleful of cash for Chuck Klein.

Nowadays, the major league club owners are pointedly asking their scouts why they can't dig up worth while prospects in the sandlots and in the colleges for development on their own baseball far ms.

These club owners like to recall that Ty Cobb cost about $700; that Honus Wagner cost only carfare; that Connie Mack paid about $38 (most of it in cash) for McInnis, Collins, Barry and Baker; and that Tris Speaker, Lou Gehrig, Walter Johnson, Christy Mathewson and a host of other stars cost only peanut money.

And because they are thinking along these lines, the next minor league star who carries a six-figure price tag will have to be a combination of Ruth, Cobb and Speaker if he's an outfielder and if he's a pitcher he'll have to be a combination of Mathewson and Johnson.

PATTY UNDER KNIFE
MINNEAPOLIS, July 21—Patty Berg, 21-year-old national women's golf champion, was reported recuperating satisfactorily today from an appendectomy, but it was feared the operation may force her to forego defense of her title next month. The national women's tourney will be played at Noroton, Conn., but the champion's father and manager, H. L. Berg, said he did not think it likely Miss Berg would be in condition to participate.

BIG JOHN RUNS AT ARLINGTON

Woodward's Horse Holds Top Billing; Challedon, Technician Enter

CHICAGO, July 21—Johnstown, William Woodward's three-year-old champion, loomed as a top-heavy favorite today for the running of the $50,000 Arlington Park classic stakes tomorrow.

Predictions were for a lightning fast track and this, coupled with the big colt's sparkling workouts during the week, led many of the rail birds to express the opinion, the mile and a quarter stakes to all intents and purposes will be a one-horse race—with Johnstown that one horse.

Yesterday the Woodward horse ran a practice half-mile in 45-115, one second faster than the official world record.

Some fans nevertheless continued to string along with W. L. Brann's Challedon, winner over Johnstown in the Preakness stud, and with the Woolford farm's Technician and Unerring. These horses all were said to be in top shape for tomorrow's race, as were the Earle Sande-trained Heather Broom, and Sun Lover.

Of the forecast field of six, however, it was Johnstown who rapidly was becoming the general choice, with Challedon considered a good second and Technician or Unerring third.

REDS MEET BROOKLYN; RIGGS TO BE PITCHER?

NEW YORK, July 21—The Cincinnati Reds were to engage the Brooklyn Dodgers in a double-header today as rumors traveled in baseball circles that former third baseman Lew Riggs would soon blossom forth as a pitcher.

The rumor, not verified, was that Red Coach Jimmy Wilson, former Philadelphia Phillie manager, was attempting to make a hurler out of Riggs. It was Wilson who converted Bucky Walters into a moundsman while manager of the Phils.

PESEK PINS SAVOLDI

COLUMBUS, July 21—Jumping Joe Savoldi, former Notre Dame football star, proved no match for John Pesek last night and today Pesek still held his heavyweight wrestling crown. One of Savoldi's famed drop kicks proved his downfall as it missed its objective, Pesek, and the former footballer fell on his head. Pesek fell on him for the pin in 15 minutes and 15 seconds.

Dean pitched for the Coopers and was aided materially by a home run smash by Harold Glick with a mate on base.

The Coopers took an early lead and maintained it throughout. Lightfoot was the Mt. Sterling pitcher.
